

LEGISLATURE HAS ADJOURNED TODAY

ONLY SENSATION IS RESOLUTION INTRODUCED BY SENATOR
GAYLORD.

WANTS AN INVESTIGATION

Of Postal Department Particularly Hitchcock's Recent Order As To Hours.

Madison, Jan. 27.—President H. C. Morley of the state senate presided over that body today in the absence for the first time this session of Lieut. Gov. Morris. The senate following the introduction of a few bills concurred in the assembly resolution and adjourned until next Tuesday morning.

Senator Gaylord of Milwaukee, social democrat, introduced a joint resolution before the senate today memorializing congress to maintain the government postal service in an efficient manner. The resolution was decided upon at Postmaster General J. Hitchcock. It requested the Wisconsin members of congress to bring about a thorough investigation of Hitchcock's retrenchment policy.

State aid for highways was proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Donald. The Economic construction of bridges and rural roads was asked with the state to pay one-fifth of the cost of bridge and one-third of the cost of road improvement.

A bill introduced by Sen. Lyons of Fond du Lac authorizes the common councils of cities to establish street sprinkling districts and assess the cost against all property owners in the respective districts regardless of property frontage.

Assemblyman Harper today introduced a bill providing for the purchase of all buildings of former Governors La Follette and Davidson.

RE-ELECT OFFICERS FOR ENSUING YEAR

State Board of Health Meets in Madison to Plan for Year's Work.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 27.—The state board of health this afternoon elected Dr. W. P. White of Watertown, president, and Dr. C. A. Harper of Madison, secretary. The board also extended its order against the common drinking cups to all public buildings, making the order apply to the new state capital.

It is rumored the board may seek to have its order enacted into law at this session of the legislature and possibly to extend its provisions to cover factories and practically all buildings except private homes.

One of the problems which the board will take up tonight is the matter of establishing a minimum period of quarantine for scarlet fever and diphtheria.

NEWSPAPER MEN ARE ORDERED TO TESTIFY

Foreman of the Danville Grand Jury Will Probe Scandal to Bottom.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 27.—Foreman Woodward of the grand jury probing the Vermillion county vote traffic, today held subpoena for all out of town newspaper correspondents detailed on the case. The object is unknown. No indictments were returned as expected of the jury today, but it is reported over 100 were voted.

FEDERALISTS LOST HEAVILY IN FIGHT

Massacre of Government Forces Under Col. Dorante Reported Officially Today.

San Jose, Mexico, via Mexico, Texas, Jan. 27.—Details of the massacre of federal troops under Col. Dorante, were received here today, and show he lost a hundred and fifteen men when his soldiers were led into the hummocky trap near Ojuna. The revolutionary loss was two.

PLEADED GUILTY AND WILL RECEIVE DEATH SENTENCE

John R. Edwards Made Plea Without Standing Trial—Friends Will Try To Get Life Sentence.

Ebensburg, Pa., Jan. 27.—When John R. Edwards who killed his wife in Johnstown some months ago, was arraigned in court he pleaded guilty to a charge of murder without standing trial. Consequently, when he is brought on for sentence next Monday the court will be obliged under the new law to sentence him to the gallows. A strong effort will be made, however, to have the state pardon board commute the sentence to one of life imprisonment.

ATHLETIC EVENTS TAKE PLACE OF BIG CARNIVAL

Canadian Skating Races Begin Tomorrow—Winter Carnival at Montreal Abandoned.

Montreal, Que., Jan. 27.—The great Winter Carnival, which was to have opened in Montreal tomorrow and have continued through the coming week has been abandoned, owing to the lack of time to make the necessary preparations. Though the carnival has been abandoned a number of the sporting and athletic events which were to have been included in the program will be carried out.

Among these will be the championship skating races. Many of the speediest skaters from both sides of the international line have arrived in the city to participate in the contest.

RESUME ARGUMENTS AGAINST CLEARING SENATOR LORIMER

Senator Cummins Again Attacks Report Of Committee Exonerating Illinois Senator.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Sen. Cummins, Iowa, resumed his argument against the adoption of the committee resolution exonerating Senator Lorimer of Illinois from the bribery charge.

The Iowan declared it would have been impossible for human mind to have fabricated such a story as that by the Chicago Tribune by the state representative while without having it refuted by facts.

This refutation, he said, had not resulted. On the contrary, many circumstances corroborative of the relation had been collected by the committee, and these were outlined at length.

Sen. Cummins declared there was not one single undisputed item of testimony that was not in harmony with the original White story.

SEEK LA FOLLETTE FOR A CONFERENCE

Delegation Of Mail Clerks To Meet Wisconsin Senator This Evening.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 27.—A delegation of postal clerks from Minnesota District points in the railway mail service is expected in Madison some time this afternoon or tonight to meet Senator La Follette and it is possible that his aid in their fight against the Economy plan of Postmaster General Hitchcock as the belligerent employees, are liable to suspension for their actions in organizing opposition to the Postmaster General, the conference is likely to be secret.

CANADIAN TARIFF PUZZLES EXPERTS

CONGRESSMEN STUDY POSSIBLE COMBINATIONS THAT MAY ARISE.

ENGLAND SILENT AS YET

Senator "Lafe" Young's Paper Does Not Approve and Says So—May Complicate Matters.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The wide-spread effect of the reciprocity agreement with Canada more or less bewildered the members of congress today and the tariff experts began immediate studies of its details to determine its effect upon proposed tariff changes. Some legislators see an extra session before the approval of the agreement is reached.

English Papers Silent. London, Jan. 27.—The afternoon papers are silent on the American-Canadian reciprocity agreement tariff. The reformers are inclined to look askance at the agreement as possibly harmful to imperial preference, but they do not wish to antagonize the Canadian government by criticism.

"Lafe" Young Opposed. Des Moines, Jan. 27.—Declaring the new treaty with Canada, proposed by the Taft administration, is a blow to the Iowa farmer and robbery on the part of the American harvester trust, Senator "Lafe" Young, "senator candidate for the Duller senatorship seat, in a double-leader editorial in his paper, "The Capital," today condemned the agreement.

WORK AT WAREHOUSES WILL BEGIN MONDAY

Number of Edgerton Farms Will Start Handling 1910 Tobacco Crop Next Week.

Edgerton, Jan. 27.—Next Monday morning will witness the opening of a number of warehouses in Edgerton for the handling of the 1910 tobacco crop. Delivering for a number of days has been brisk and with the present state of weather the moving of the crop will increase daily. McIntosh Bros. and Frank Collins, agent for Ross & Noble, New York, will begin sorting operations Monday. The warehouse of T. H. Carlo is in full operation and stemming is being continued.

Orson Vaughn. The remains of Orson Vaughn who passed away at Sioux Falls, S. D., on Jan. 25, were brought here yesterday for burial. For many years the deceased was a prosperous farmer of the town of Fulton. After selling his farm there he became a resident of Edgerton and for twelve years conducted a livery stable here. For a number of years he has resided in the west. The only known relative in Edgerton is Mrs. W. H. Clarke.

Mrs. Lucy Pringle most royally entertained the force of lady clerks, seven in number, together with the head members and their families of the firm of Pringle Bros. & Keller at supper at her home Thursday evening. Grandmother Pringle annually prepares an elaborate spread of this nature and this year's was no exception.

BURNS' EXAMINATION ADJOURNED TODAY

Child Assaulter of Beloit Has Hearing Postponed—Victim In Serious Condition.

The preliminary examination of Thomas Burns, held in the county jail here under $1,000 bond, charged with the abuse of a nine year old child in Beloit, which was to have been held before Judge Ross, this morning, was adjourned until next Wednesday. Burns did not secure an attorney until so late that Cornelius Buckley, the one he retained, did not feel prepared to face a hearing at the early date. The man was brought back to the jail here to await his examination.

Burns whose offense is of the most serious nature will, without a doubt, receive a long sentence. It is said that the victim of his assault, the little nine-year old girl, is in a serious condition, but it is also said that she will appear on the stand as a witness against the prisoner, as will the doctor and the child's parents. It was thought for a while that Burns would plead guilty and receive the full penalty of the law, but he took this move of obtaining counsel today.

Circuit Court. Judge Grimm will arrive in the city Monday noon to take up any matters that may come before the circuit court.

NEW SHOE FACTORY STARTS OPERATION

Lay-Watson Company Now Running and Filling Orders in Old Marzluft Building.

Under the name of the Lay-Watson
Shoe Company, the combined Marzluft and Watson Shoe Company with a capital stock of $50,000, are already turning out shoes in their plant, located in the old Marzluft Shoe Company's building at the corner of W.
Bluff and Franklin streets. The company has been organized with the following officers: T. O. Howe, Pres.; J. W. Watson, Vice-pres.; P. H.
Korol, Treas.; R. H. Lay, Sec.

This new company has only been in their present quarters a few weeks and are already turning out shoes and filling orders. The firm has moved all the machinery of the old Watson Shoe Company and have installed it in the former Marzluft building. At present they are running with thirty-eight men but will increase the force to fifty by Saturday night. The factory will be divided into two sections, No. 1 and No. 2, the former for the manufacture of women's shoes and the latter for men's.

As the firm is only just started, the latter department is the only one running and as soon as the other begins work many additional men will be needed. Their product will be sold to the jobbers and not to the retail trade and consequently their output will be large. The fact that, although they have only been running for two weeks, they are filling orders and operating their machinery, speaks well for Janesville's new industry.

The factory supervision is to be under the management of J. W. Watson and R. H. Lay, who is well acquainted with the shoe trade, having sold the entire output of the Watson Shoe Company in the past. It is to have charge of the sales end of the business. The two gentlemen at the head of this concern are both practical shoe men.

Mr. Watson for the past three years has been factory superintendent of the Selby Shoe Company, Portsmouth, Ohio, and previous to that has been connected with some of the leading shoe companies of the east, and is a thorough man in the shoe shoe line. Mr. Lay, his associate, is equally well acquainted in the shoe line. The both of the gentlemen have expressed themselves as well satisfied that Janesville is the equal of any city in the country for the location of a shoe factory.

WONDERFUL EXHIBIT IS ON EXHIBITION

Strange Collection of Fossils Found Near Ormand, South Dakota.

There has been placed in the Gazette window a most interesting collection of geological specimens which are owned by John Peters, one of the members of the Hayes Brothers contracting firm. These specimens, which consist of fossils, beautifully colored shells and pieces of what appears to be petrified wood, were found near Ormand and Belle Fourche, South Dakota, in the excavations made in constructing the "splitway" at the edge of the dam which is part of the irrigation project which that firm completed the latter part of last year.
When the earth had been removed to a depth of about forty feet, in the process of excavation, these specimens were exposed, buried in a stratum of shale at that depth.

Among the collections are shells of various sizes, fossils and stone formations which appear to be petrified history and stone. The former seem to be a form of prehistoric animal formations in the shape of large crab shells, the largest measuring about seven inches across. They are coated on the outside with a layer of a many colored substance resembling the inside of a clam shell. All the lines of the rainbow are present and when held in the light at the right angle, are very beautiful. The petrified, old shells are very perfect in their shape and are undoubtedly the "vegetable growth" which have undergone the change during their centuries of hiding under the crust of the earth. There are some dozen of the shell forms besides the petrified specimens all of which were brought to this city by Mrs. Peters last October.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MONITOR CO.

Matters of Business Transacted and Officers and Board of Directors
Were Re-elected.

The annual meeting of the Monitor Auto company of this city was held yesterday afternoon in the offices of the company on North Academy street. Matters of business were transacted and the officers and board of directors were re-elected. The officers are: William Westerlund, president;
E. E. Yaxley, Chicago, vice president;
J. E. Norling, secretary and treasurer.
The board of directors is composed of the officers, C. L. and Joseph Weber, Jr.

Many of the Janesville stockholders of the concern were present at the meeting and were shown through the factory. The company has already built or has in process of construction fifty-five cars and the outlook is bright for large sales this coming spring. Three of the machines will be entered in the show for commercial automobiles which will be held in Chicago after the exhibition of touring cars closes. Mr. Norling will go to Chicago the last of next week to make arrangements for the display of the cars.

LAUREAN SOCIETY OF HIGH SCHOOL ELECTS OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

Meet at the High School and Social Meeting Follows Election of Officers.

At a meeting of the Laurean society of the high school last evening, officers for the year were elected and the various committees appointed. The officers elected were: Margaret Doty, president; Marian Weirick, vice president; Lucile Hyde, secretary; Ruth Humphrey, treasurer; Florence Hopkins, sergeant-at-arms; Winifred Grun-ger, clerk. After the business session a social meeting was enjoyed. The lightful refreshments were served to the members by Miss Bowen, the clerk of the society.

LONG, USEFUL LIFE ENDED THIS MORNING

Mrs. Mary A. Hyzer Passed to the World Beyond Shortly Before
Eleven Today.

Mrs. Mary A. Hyzer, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Janesville, passed to the world beyond this morning after an illness of several days' duration at her home, 326 South Jackson street. Mrs. Hyzer was born at Bradford, Vermont, on August 31, 1828. She came to Wisconsin with her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
W. C. Chase, and three brothers when but seven years of age, settling in the town of Bradford. When but fourteen her mother died, leaving the young girl to all her place in the household. On February 29, 1848, she was united in marriage to J. B. Hyzer, who preceded her to the world beyond on January 15, 1890. Two brothers, M. M. Chase, and Geo. M. Chase of Charlton, N. Y., and two sons, W. W.
Hyzer of this city and Edward M.
Hyzer, general counsel for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, survive her. Mrs. Hyzer was a woman of rare talents, a loving mother, a good neighbor and a devout Christian.
Her long residence in Janesville and Rock county has made for her many warm friends who unite in expressing their profound sympathy to those left to mourn her demise. The funeral will occur on Sunday, the hour not being fixed as yet. Edward M. Hyzer arrived from Chicago this afternoon.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Nancy Seakins.

The remains of Mrs. Nancy Seakins, who died at the county farm last Tuesday, were taken to Emerald Grove for burial in the cemetery there yesterday. The deceased was eighty-four years of age and had been a resident of this city since 1837, when she came to this state with her parents from Vermont. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Virgin, took up land from the government in the town of Johnstown and there most of the life of the deceased was spent. She leaves one sister, Lucy A. Virgin, and a niece, Mrs. John Turnbull, of this city.

Orville Wright.

Word has been received here today of the death of Orville Wright at the home of his son, George H. Wright, 3721 Pacific Avenue, Chicago. The deceased was eighty-four years of age and had been ill for some three weeks following a stroke of apoplexy. Mr.
Wright was formerly a resident here where he was engaged in the occupation of contractor and builder. He was widely known in this city and throughout the country where a host of friends will be grieved to learn of his death. For the last twenty years he has been living in Chicago prior to which time he lived in this city.

Besides his wife he left two sons,
George and Lou Wright, both of Chicago; two sister-in-laws are living in this city, Mrs. Amelia Chase who lives on Terrace street, and Mrs. Nell Wright on Pleasant street. The burial was held today and interment was in one of the cemeteries of that city.

Thomas Bowles.

Funeral services for the late Thomas Bowles were held at the late residence, 351 South Main street, last afternoon from the late residence, 351 South Main street. Rev.
T. D. Williams of the Methodist church conducted the services and the remains were laid to rest in the vault at Oak Hill. Pall bearers were:
Will Tallman, D. W. Watt, Wm. Conrad, John Power, Jos. Herr, and E.
F. Carpenter.

His Job.

"There goes a man who makes it a point, no matter where he is, to raise his standard."

"He must be very keen about improvement."

"Not so much that as because he is the regimental bug-bear."

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY
PLEASANTLY CELEBRATED

Social Gathering Held Last Evening at Home of Andrew Anderson in Honor of His Birthday.

Some twenty-five friends of Andrew Anderson gathered at his home on Home Park avenue last evening and enjoyed an elaborate dinner and social evening in honor of his fifty-second birthday. The event was in the nature of a surprise which was successfully planned and carried out by his wife. Dinner was served at eight o'clock and the remainder of the evening was spent in a social way. Mr.
Anderson received numerous gifts in addition to the usual birthday greetings.

SQUIRRELS HURT THE CROPS

Maine Farmers Turn Upon Little Pets
of Law and Want "Peaky Things" Exterminated.

Lawton, Mo.—The State of Maine is overrun with gray squirrels, according to reports received at the office of the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game. Thousands of dollars worth of damage has been done to the crops and in some places whole cornfields have been completely destroyed. Farmers are flooding the office of Chairman Brackett of the Fish and Game Commission with petitions asking for protection.

Two years ago a state law was passed making it illegal to hunt and kill gray squirrels. As a result the squirrels have multiplied rapidly and have become more and more destructive. Until the special law was passed gray squirrels were classed as "game animals" and each fall were hunted by the gunners. The farmers who two years ago petitioned the legislature to pass a law to protect the "little pets" now have their danger up and declare they want every one of the "peaky things" killed off. In some instances the farmers have dared the law and with loaded guns have watched their cornfields from early day until late at night.

The Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game have promised to do everything in their power to have the law repealed at the next session of the legislature.

Output of Alaskan Gold.

Seattle, Wash.—More than 10,000, 000 worth of gold has been received by the United States assay office here since the first of the year, according to a statement by the assayer. The receipts from January 1 to November 8 from Alaska and British-American mines is given as $10,507,621.94. Of this $2,300,100.75 came from Alaska, $1,036,296.03 from British Columbia and $7,021,75 from the Yukon territory. Other sources in Canada contributed $64,944.41.

Couldn't Take the Time.

Superintendent to Sunday school scholars after an address by visiting minister: "I was going to ask the school to sing two verses of 'Take Time to Be Holy,' but we can't take the time now."

Always.

It is useless to give an optimistic opinion of him, because he will think you are prejudiced.

Some advertisers would rather lose money in their own way than to make it according to somebody's else way.

It Pays to Advertise.

Mr. Irwin pointed with pride to the advances in education shown by the advertising of sons of Shakespeare at cut prices. He saw an advertisement recently that said there had been a great cut in the English classics, and as he wasn't posted on what had happened recently to the English classics he went to find out. Some of the tags on the "sets" read as follows:

"Shakespeare greatly reduced."

"Shelley cut in half." "Dante's Inferno gone down lower than ever before."

"I wanted 'Macbeth' for a friend," he continued, "and I asked the saleslady: 'Have you 'Macbeth?' She called to the next counter: 'Say, Lizzie, have we 'Macbeth' this week?'
and then added, 'I think this gentleman is in the wrong department.
'Macbeth' isn't a book; it's a lamp chimney."

A Food Combles.

"Oh, John," exclaimed Mrs. Bayliss, laying down the paper, "isn't it just lovely! You remember that young couple who were upset off here last summer in their sailboat? Well, they fell in love and got married. And they're so well to do, too. Her father is a rich packer and his father is a prosperous farmer."

"Oh," sniffed the summer hotelkeep-er, "a sort of corned beef and cabbage combination, eh?"

HEART FAILURE
CAUSE OF DEATH

HERMAN LOEFFLER DIED SUD-DENLY IN MADISON HOTEL
THIS MORNING.

WAS ON HIS WAY TO WORK

Felt Pain in Chest and Stopped in Hotel To Tell Fellow Workmen
He Could Not Work.

Herman Loeffler, aged thirty-four, died suddenly of heart failure in a room at the Madison hotel at ten minutes to seven this morning. Loeffler, who is employed at the Burns Building Mill, started to work this morning in apparently the best of health. On the way he became ill and stopped at the hotel to speak to a fellow workman, Sam Cooley, to tell him that he felt sick and to report the fact at the mill. He complained that his chest seemed to be filled up and stepped into a room adjoining the office to rest a minute. A few minutes later one of the boarders heard a noise and investigating, found Loeffler had fallen over. He called for help and one of the other men came and Loeffler was carried out of the room. It was apparent that Loeffler was dead, and efforts made to revive him by working his arms and limbs up and down were unavailing. The police were notified and Officers Peter Champlin and Patrick Fanning sent for Dr. Charles Sutherland and District Attorney Stanley Danville. The doctor examined the man and pronounced life extinct. No inquest will be held as the circumstances do not seem to warrant it. The remains were taken to D. Ryan & Sons mortuary.

Loeffler was a man in the prime of life, apparently strong and healthy and a hard worker. He was genial and generous to a fault and was well liked by many who knew him. He was a man about five feet six inches in height, light complexioned and quite stockily built. He was a native of Germany, where he was born October 12, 1875. He had spent the greater share of his life in this country and resided with his aged mother and the family of a sister, Mrs. Emory Phelps, at 618 Linn street. Two sisters, Mrs. Julius Schilling of this city and Mrs. Bertha Willey of Milwaukee, a half-sister, Mrs. Reinhold Nolte of Janesville, and a brother Carl Loeffler of St. Paul, also survive him. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at half past one o'clock from the home of Julius Schilling, Locust street.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Rails Spread: Spreading rails on the interurban track near Yost park caused a delay in the arrival of the interurban car from Beloit, due here at 11:15 last night. No damage of importance was done.

Played Tie Game: The Janesville Maroons basketball team played a tie game, 21 to 21, with the Beloit roller rink team at the Beloit rink Wednesday evening. The tie will be played off there next Wednesday.

Five Days: Phillip Koll of Beloit, came under the sheriff's keeping last night, to remain for 30 days for being drunk and disorderly on the streets of the above city.

Three Drunk: Three prisoners were arraigned in municipal court this morning for drunkenness and two, who have been in court before, were sent to jail. Jack Holleran, who was on the verge of tremors on his last trip to the county jail, asked to be allowed to go to Chicago, but it was feared that his good resolves would not be carried out and he was sentenced to five days. John Kendrick, another old offender, also received a five day sentence. Andrew Sedlock secured release for himself by paying a fine of $2 and costs, $5 in all.

Case Adjourned: The civil suit of J. J. Fisher against George Smith of Portville, for the recovery of money which it is alleged the defendant owes Mr. Fisher, was adjourned one week by consent of attorneys when called in municipal court this morning. The pleadings in the case have not yet been presented.

"I don't know it all myself," he told her, "that is, I have filled it in with guesses. I know about the girl. Hunter was half mad about her, and she, I suppose, was in love with him. Anyway, he came to me one night—the last time I ever talked with him—raging with excitement. The girl's father had found out about him and meant, she said, to kill him, and perhaps, her, too. Anyhow, she had forbidden Hunter seeing her again. We took a drink or two, together, before I started, and I suppose he must have drunk himself half mad after that; for he started right on my trail and did what you know. I have always supposed,

"Fanshaw Told You the Story, Didn't He?"

until just now, that he had used my name as his own with her, to screen himself from possible trouble. But that may not have been the case. He may simply have spoken of me as his friend.

"The girl was in love with him, and it would be natural for her to give her father my name instead of Hunter's, and make the accusation against me. I suppose he thought that I could, probably, clear myself easily enough, without involving him, and that the whole row might blow over without doing any irreparable damage to either of us. And then, when it didn't blow over—when it got worse and meant ruin for somebody—the fact that he hadn't spoken at first would have made it ten times harder to speak at last. I might have helped him. He sent word to me once, when I was under arrest, to ask if I would see him, and I refused. I was very . . . His speech was punctuated now by longer and longer pauses, but still Jeanne waited. "Very sure of the correctness of my own attitude then. Correct is, perhaps, the exact word for it. I wouldn't turn a hand to save a man—a man who had been my friend, too—from living out the rest of his life in hell." He shuddered a little at that, and she quickly laid her hand upon his lips.

"That was long ago," she said, "You can see now what a God, perhaps, would have seen and done then. And if you had wrong, then it's you who have suffered for it—you who have paid the penalty. You have paid for the thing you left undone as well as for the thing he did. But we must not talk about it any more, now. You're not strong enough. I ought not to have spoken of it at all, but, somehow, I couldn't wait any longer."

"Just this much more, Jeanne, and then we will let it go. You see now, don't you, dear, why I said I never could go back to the world, never clear myself of the old charge at Hunter's expense—Perry Hunter's expense—now that he is dead; and don't you see that that's as impossible now as it was when I first said it?"

It was with a half laugh and a half sob that she kissed him.

"Oh, my dear," she said, "what does the world matter? This is the world here. You and I. The space of this great bear-skin we are lying on. The past can't come between us, and what else is there that matters? Come, it's time for you to take another nap. Are you warm enough out here, or shall we go back to the hut?"

"I'm warm, soul and body, thanks to you," he said.

But it was Jeanne who went to sleep. Somehow, since that last explanation a wonderful great, soft calm seemed to envelop her. She slept there like a child beside him, his hand still half-clasped in hers.

It was Philip's voice that awakened her. How long afterwards she did not know. He was sitting erect on the great bear-skin, and all she could see of him was the dim silhouette of his back against the sky.

"What is it?" she asked, drowsily. "Is anything the matter?"

He could hardly command his voice to answer.

"It's that aurora, over there," he said. "No, it's gone now. It may come back. It's right over there in the south—straight in front of you."

"No, it's not that," he said, drowsily. "I don't know—I think I may be going mad, perhaps. I know I wasn't dreaming. I thought so at first, but I know I'm not now." Then she felt his body stiffen, he dropped her hand and pointed out to the southern horizon.

"There," he said, "look there!" What she saw was simply a pencil of white light, pointing straight from the horizon to the zenith, and reaching on an altitude of perhaps 20 degrees. Compared with the stupendous electrical displays that they were used to seeing in that winter sky, it was utterly insignificant, and from it she turned to search his face, in sudden alarm.

"No, no—look—look!" he commanded, his excitement mounting higher with each word.

She obeyed reluctantly, but at what she saw her body became suddenly rigid and she stared as one might stare who sees a spirit. For the faint pencil of white light swung on a pivot, dipped clear to the horizon, rose again and completed its circuit to the other side.

She sat there beside him, breathless, almost lifeless with suspense while that pencil traced its course back and forth from horizon to horizon, stopped sometimes on the zenith, to turn back upon itself—sometimes continuing through unchecked. At last her breath burst forth from her in a great sob. She turned and clung to him wildly.

"Philip!" she said, "it can't be that—it can't—it can't!"

"Tell me—tell me what it looks like—what you think you see?"

She stayed just where she was, clinging to him, cowering to him, as if something terrified her, her face pressed down against his shoulder.

"Signals," she gasped out, "from a light—from a search-light."

He drew a long deep breath or two, and his good arm tightened about her.

"Well," he said, his voice breaking in a shaky laugh, "if we are mad, we are mad together, Jeanne, dear, and with the same madness; and if we are dreaming, we are living in the same dream. Did you read what it said? Oh, no, of course you couldn't—but I did. It's the old army wig-wag, and it has been saying all sorts of things, spelling out your name most of the time. What it just said was, 'Courage. They are coming.'"

CHAPTER XXIV.

Unwinged.

For awhile she stayed just where she was, her head cradled against his shoulder, but, presently, she stood erect once more, pulled off one of her heavy gauntlets, and with her bare palm pressed the tears out of her eyes.

"You aren't strong enough yet to be used as the support for a really good cry," Her voice was shaky and her speech uneven. There were still some little half-suppressed sobs in it. But she turned her face again towards the southern horizon. "If that's the army wig-wag I ought to be able to read it. Tom taught it to me years ago. Perhaps—perhaps it is he who is signaling now."

"Was there a search-light on the Aurora?" Philip asked. "I didn't notice when I saw her." He tried to make the question sound casual, but his voice was hardly steadier than hers. "Oh, yes," she said. "It was one of the things we laughed at Uncle Jerry for insisting upon, but he insisted just the same. It's a very powerful light, Philip," she said suddenly, after a little silence. "Is it not plain, impossible, that that we see over there? You know you said, and father said in his journal, that there was no possibility of a relief in the winter. Philip—Philip, isn't it madness—is it the ice madness?"

But before he could answer they heard a rifle-shot ring out in the still air.

"No," he cried, "the long wait is over. Thank God they are here. Mrs. Jeanne! Fire the revolver! Let them know they are in time." His lips trembled and tears glistened in his eyes. It was lying under her hand. There were only three cartridges left, but she fired them all into the air. Then, almost before the echo from the cliff behind them had died away, they heard a dim hum in a human voice—a voice that broke sharply as if the shout had ended in a sob.

"It's Tom," she said.

"Call out! It's your voice he'll want to hear." But it was a moment before she could command it. She called his name twice, and then a third time, with a different inflection, for a long, leaping flicker of freelight had revealed a little knot of figures rounded over one of the great ice-crags that covered the frozen harbor. One figure, a little in advance of the others, dashed forward at a run. Jeanne sprang to meet him.

PLAGUE STOPS TRAFFIC

JAPANESE ROADS WILL NOT CARRY CHINESE PASSENGERS.

Other Foreigners Must Show Health Certificates to Get Train Transportation.

Peking, Jan. 27.—Owing to the bubonic plague, railway traffic in northern China has ceased. The Japanese roads are conveying no Chinese and only medically certified foreigners.

Service on the German line from Tien-Tsin to Pukow has been suspended. Those departing on special trains include Louis Einstein, secretary of the American legation, and other diplomats and their wives. The Einsteins are not running away from the plague, but are advancing the date of a vacation previously arranged.

A general quarantine will become effective when conditions require it. All the legations have taken in a three months' supply of rations and fuel, while most of the westerners, including missionaries, are sending their scholars home.

American Minister W. J. Calhoun offered the missionaries a refuge at the American legation, but the American and British workers, who did not wish to have their activities limited, declined. Mr. Calhoun will remain, realizing that, while the disease is deadly, it is contracted only by close infecting, which is practically impossible within the legation area.

Physicians believe the germ will be exterminated with the approach of warm weather, as it is evident it is of the type that flourishes in winter. News is received of the death from the plague of another physician at Mukden. Dr. Jackson, a Presbyterian missionary, 26 years old.

Reports from Harbin say the Chinese authorities have given to the medical men permission to burn three sections of the Chinese city.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

MY DAUGHTER has the circulating library habit," said a man to me the other day, and struck by the newness of the phrase, I cocked my ears and waited eagerly for more.

"As soon as a book is out," my friend went on with a man's patronizingly tolerant smile for the follies of the weaker sex, "my daughter makes frantic appeals to the librarians to 'save a copy' for her. It doesn't matter in the least who the author is, or what the theme may be, but she must have a copy as soon as possible."

"The name of the author, I find, is often forgotten as soon as the last page has been read, and very often she has confessed to me that she reads the new books only because everyone is talking about them, and it's so nice to be able to say she's read them."

Isn't it fortunate for the circulating libraries that there are heaps and heaps of people just like this man's daughter?

I have a friend who is a reference librarian, and she says that every day many people come to her asking for reviews of the new novels, which reviews they read merely that they may be able to talk about the books as if they had read them.

In the same way I know people who seem to take pleasure in going to the theatre merely that when a play is mentioned they may say, "Yes, I've seen that."

Just think, in none of these cases are the individuals doing the things they do for their own enjoyment or edification, but merely because they want to be able to appear to others to have done them.

Don't we owe ourselves better motives for the use of our time than that? And yet which of us is quite free from the taint of this motive?

YOU are?

Wait a bit, my friend.

Here's one more example.

Did you NEVER—not "hardly ever" but up and down NEVER—when you were travelling, go to some famous spot, some picture gallery, some historical landmark, not so much because you actively wanted to see it as because you wanted to be able to say you had seen it?—to be able to speak up when that place was mentioned and say, "Yes, I was there last summer."

And now do you still think you are qualified to plead a full "Not Guilty?"

PRODIGAL DAUGHTERS.

When the prodigal son seeks to return to his father's house the fatted calf is killed, and the best viands prepared. Father, mother, brother and sister go more than half a mile down the road to welcome him home. Usually there is no return for the prodigal daughter. That's why the white slave problem is such a difficult one. The underworld is peopled by women who made mistakes and then discovered that the only place on earth where they should have found forgiveness and aid in overcoming the results of their sin was shut against them and that all the people behind those closed doors, with the possible exception of the mother, were trying to delude themselves into believing that the erring daughter never lived. These people who should have said, who sometime in her life has gone astray, it is also wrong to receive the man who has sinned and who because of a double standard of morals goes on shaming. The woman, as a rule, who has made a mistake and is repentant, is not nearly as likely to corrupt or taint the lives of those with whom she comes in contact as is the man who is allowed the largest kind of latitude in his associations no matter what his past may have been.

There are very few women in this world who have deliberately fallen from grace. The majority have gone wrong through the wiles of others and because as girls they were not properly trained for the combat with the world or made acquainted with the basic principles of life. Shown ignorance, and nothing else, coupled with a license in regard to freedom of action that is startling to any one who stops long enough to think of the risk is responsible for a great many of the victims who yearly fall into the maw of the thing known as the White Slave Traffic. And these victims are kept there through the cold blooded and inhuman attitude of the relatives and friends who should, at least, show more of the spirit of the Good Samaritan.

If the prodigal son is to be received into his father's house with open arms then, too, should the prodigal daughter be so received. This encouragement and this hope will go a long way towards helping her redeem her past and towards keeping her out of trouble in the future.

Over the Tea Cups.

It is not the splendor of the entertainment that gives enjoyment, it is the spirit of love which we show, "for small cheer and great welcome make a merry feast." The homes in which we find the choicest entertainment are those where the guest is welcomed by a genuine smile of welcome.

One of the most fascinating ways of entertaining is to have some one with a good imagination tell the fortunes of the guests from the teacups. This is especially pleasing to a group of young people, and those of older growth are not above being so amused occasionally.

Here are some of the ways of telling fortunes in tea leaves.

Stems of varied lengths denote admirers, those of color dark or light denoting, of course, the complexion of the lover.

A ring always denotes an engagement, a broken ring a disappointment. Leaves of tea near the top of the cup are presents.

Tea dust in the bottom of the cup is riches. Tea leaves when forming a diamond insures the getting of the wish.

Fan-shaped leaves denote good fortune.

Crosses mean ill luck. Little valleys running through the grounds indicate journeys, long or short.

If all the grounds settle to the bottom of the cup and stay there after it has been turned over and turned three times in the saucer, wishing all the while, it is an unfailing sign that the person is engaged and the wedding preparations are afoot.

Animals or birds are signs of good luck.

Letters found in the cup are initials of persons closely connected with the fortune.

Any foreign matter, like crumbs, denote scandal.

Sugar left in the bottom of the cup undissolved, indicates extravagance.

A person who has a sense of humor may make this fortune telling over the tea cups most entertaining.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

DIET FOR THE AGED.

Wine, it has been said, is the milk of age. This is true of unfermented wine, grape juice, but not of that containing alcohol, which, most authorities agree, has no food value. It is unwise at any time to impose a severe digestive tax upon the system to obtain the necessary nourishment, but especially in sickness, when the vitality is needed for restoring normal conditions and in age, when the vitality is largely exhausted. Milk contains too much albumen for the aged, although it is easily digested by most, and the same is true of eggs and meat. A good diet for one past 70 would be, breakfast, choice of apples, grapes, oranges, grape fruit, and sultana or other raisins; dinner, bananas, with a few nuts or cream, or a whipped egg; or rice with cream, or toast with egg; supper, prunes or raisins, or baked potato, or rice with cream.

STENOGRAPHY.

The recent death of Hiram Pitman at the age of eighty-eight calls attention to that science of shorthand or stenography which he did so much to establish and promote. It was his brother, Sir Isaac Pitman, who was the inventor of phonetic shorthand, but Hiram was the first shorthand reporter employed by the United States government and, by founding a phonographic institute in Cincinnati, did much to advance the science into a practical art.

Pitman called his system "phonography," which is but another name for the American people to receive themselves

for "stenography." Together with his distinguished brother, he laid the foundations for the whole science of stenography as practiced today, and a number of systems known by other names are the outgrowth of the work of these two English born men.

Some one has recently reduced lost motion to a science and by a system of rewards and penalties has so eliminated it from the work done by his factory hands that their efficiency has been increased by many per cent. Writing with the ordinary characters involves an immense amount of lost motion. In writing the small letter "g," for instance, the hand makes five distinct strokes to express a single simple sound. Pitman taught that a single stroke ought to suffice for a single sound; the larger part of the labor of writing would thus be eliminated and one's speed would be correspondingly quickened. The word "thought," for example, has just three sounds, but it is spelled with seven letters and requires twenty-five strokes in writing. Pitman makes it in three strokes.

It is still further reduced the labor and time of writing by a system of abbreviations whereby such a word as "advantage," for example, would be indicated by a single stroke instead of the thirty-two made in script. Such principles led to the possibility of verbatim reporting, which has proved of immeasurable benefit to mankind.

MODISH TOP COAT.

To cover an evening gown or light afternoon gown a coat of this sort is almost indispensable. Black cloth is the most practical if the coat is to be worn often, and with a large collar of shiny black tux makes a handsome garment. The cut differs materially from the general run of such coats in the pointed closing on left side.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil lamp has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflinching light of the low-priced Rayo.

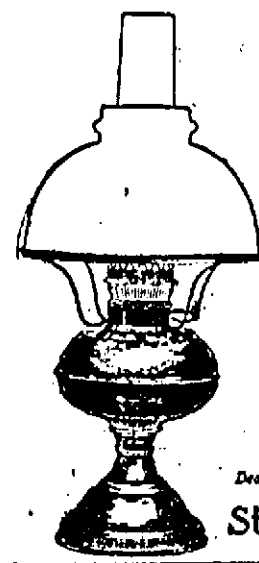

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickled, and easily polished.

Curious Surnames.
In India such surnames as these are frequent. Tikak (a canto mark on the forehead), Piyari (beloved), Chh Kouri (six little shells), Longa (a clove), Kharg (sword), Ball (strong), Phul (flower), Bahadur (brave). There sometimes they give their children bad names, so that evil spirits will pass them by and not harm them, thinking they are worthless.

FOUR HUNDRED AT ANNUAL BANQUET

OF THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HELD LAST EVENING AT ASSEMBLY HALL.

STRONG ADDRESSES MADE

Carroll Council No. 598 Host At A Most Enjoyable Entertainment Following Elaborate Supper.

Four hundred knights of Columbus, their ladies and invited guests, sat down to the elaborate menu prepared for the 11th annual banquet of the Carroll Council No. 598, at Assembly Hall at eight last evening. It was the largest gathering that has ever attended the annual event of the local council, delegations being present from Beloit, Madison and Milwaukee for the occasion.

The hall had been most tastefully decorated for the evening with long green and white streamers and the fourteen long tables, at which the diners sat, were lighted with a multitude of colored candles. Knelt and Hatched orchestra, hidden behind a bank of groves, played during the banquet hour and later for the dancing. On the background of these greens the insignia of the order was displayed in colored electric lights with charming effect. The menu which was quite elaborate was as follows:

Reception
Wafers Olives Pickles Colory
Honey Young Pig
Cold Chicken
Cream Potatoes
Fruit Salad
Pastry House Hold
Ice Cream
Sautéed Almonds

The most splendid program included three very able speakers, the Hon. J. L. O'Connor of Milwaukee, Rev. Fr. Hanz of St. Mary's church Beloit and William Vlyman of this city. W. H. Dugherly acted as toastmaster and much was added to the success of the evening by the clever way in which he conducted the program. Rev. Fr. Hanz the first speaker had for his topic "Christian Social Reform."

"Christian Reform," he said, "dates back to the sermon of the mount. Here the Master unfolded the noblest of reforms when he said 'blessed are the peacemakers,' for this was and is the essence of all reform. The appropriations of Carnegie and the work of the League Tribunal are but the faintest echoes of this spirit. Without peace any social reform is of no use."

"The Chaucers were the first to oppose such a Christian movement by their persecutions. Then came the period of the oppression of the feudal barons and in modern times both of these classes have a likeness in the owners of the great wealth of the country, who possess more legal tender than conscience."

He continued with his theme by drawing a comparison between the leaders of the middle ages and the present day organizations. He showed how their ideals had degenerated and how the idea of the time that bound them together had changed that is the promotion of peace on earth and a worship of God. Giving a historical review of the struggles of the church, he told of the attacks of disbelievers in every age and how the church stood up under them and was the supreme element in all reform today.

"Cut off the Church," he said in closing, "and you will find the highest force for social uplift. If all the churches were to disappear, the world would be a better place by your aid. Strive to emulate the namesake of your council, Bishop Carroll, and the welfare of the order will be insured."

With "Votes for Women" as his subject, William Vlyman gave one of the cleverest and most humorous talks that it has been the pleasure of Jamesville people to hear. In a light vein he told of the fight of the fairer sex for recognition in politics, and his address teemed with well selected stories which kept those present in a constant state of mirth. He finished with a very fine tribute to the women.

"When woman is aroused, God help the bold knight which she is working for nothing can stop her. Cold logic will never bring about reform. Cold logic will never drive a man to fight on and on, even in the face of approaching defeat. Something more is needed, vigor, life, feeling, passion must fan the flame. Woman's emotions will keep man roused to the proper pitch. Man is apt to look at the material advantage and let well enough alone. Woman is ready to labor to sacrifice, to give up everything for an idea, for a principle. And when she is fighting, man must perform fight with her. Her spirit keeps his alive—her enthusiasm keeps him going long after he, left to himself would have given up."

The last speaker was J. L. O'Connor of Milwaukee, one of the knights who helped to found the local council. Mr. O'Connor is a clever speaker and a man of sound judgment and his address was full of good advice and words of commendation for the order of the Knights of Columbus. Although the committee had chosen for his subject "The Vineyard," he refused to be tied down by a subject and chose to wander in a very interesting way over the history of the organization and the founding of the Carroll council.

"The aim of the order," said Mr. O'Connor in his closing remarks, "should be educational. The whole world is clamoring for educated men and women who want to work and the education which strengthens the body, beautifies the soul, quickens the conscience and makes for good character is the kind that our order should endeavor to promote. They should be educated so that the machinations of the modern business world and the repeated attacks on the Catholic church will not influence him for the worse. The Carroll council of the Knights of Columbus could do nothing better towards spreading the right kind of education than to invest sixty dollars in a set of the Catholic Encyclopedia and placing it on the shelves of the public library."

"Now is the age of good feeling between Catholic and Protestant and the order should strive to educate the young in such a way as to spread this feeling of toleration. In this country, made up of all nations and religious beliefs, the idea of Americanism should be fostered and the people brought to that state where their nation is, in their minds and where they would be willing to die for it."

During the evening several very pleasing vocal solos by George Hatch were enjoyed. At about 11:30 the tables were cleared away and the guests danced until two o'clock in the morning.

Visiting priests at the banquet: Dean E. J. Reilly, Fr. Wm. A. Goshel and Fr. James J. McGinnity of this city; Fr. Joseph Hanz of Beloit; Fr. John H. Fitzgerald of Evansville; Fr. M. Condon of Oregon.
Guests from out of town: John and Michael Goetzke, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Delaney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kline, the Misses Ward, Walsh, Birdie Quinn, and Anna Garlick, John and Roger Goodwin, Joseph Knight, Walter Maher, Harry Quinlan, and John Foley, all of Beloit; Miss Rosa Manna of Chicago; Miss Maud Kolloga of Baraboo; and Thomas Farle, of Edgerton.

FINE OFFER MADE FORMER RESIDENT

Father Charles McBride of Oconomowoc May Become Pastor of Milwaukee Cathedral.

Archbishop Sebastian Steiner has offered to Fr. Charles McBride of Oconomowoc, the pastorate of St. John's cathedral, one of the largest churches in Milwaukee, to succeed the late Fr. J. J. Keogh, and it is expected Fr. McBride will accept the place. Fr. McBride is a native of Rock county and for some years made his home in this city. He was born near Milton and attended the public schools in the village. His parents moved to Jamesville and he was a student at the Janesville high school, receiving his diploma. He studied for the priesthood at St. Francis seminary and was ordained on June 7, 1894. He was appointed assistant to Fr. McCann at Oconomowoc and became pastor there on the death of Fr. McCann. Fr. McBride has shown considerable ability in his work at Oconomowoc. Through his efforts a parsonage was built, a new and costly pipe organ was purchased and plans have been completed for a parochial school. He was at one time secretary of the Business Men's association of Oconomowoc and is its present secretary.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

Wm. H. Turner in "Father and the Boys."

Coming to the Myers theatre, Saturday, Feb. 4, matinee and evening, will be Wm. H. Turner assisted by Edith Yeager and a most efficient company in "Father and the Boys," a modern American comedy by George Ade. Was this play written for Mr. Turner, you ask? By no means, any more than was "David Harum" which made a laughing success for over four years. But father, the central figure in "Father and the Boys," Mr. Turner and his personality to a nicety. Father, a self-made man, has taken his two boys into partnership. One, a society butterfly, is enamored of a married woman with a penchant for youngsters of this type, while the other goes in for athletics. Both like money and are interested in the business. Father decides to awaken them to a sense of their responsibilities and under the tutelage of one Edwin Drayton, a clever young woman from the west, he does it very effectively and incidentally has the time of his life. This is in brief the story rich in mirthful scene and situation, for there is never a dull moment in the jolly four acts of laughter.

The Frank E. Long Stock company will be seen at the Myers theatre next week commencing Monday, Jan. 30. The opening play, a four act melodrama entitled "Sweet Clover," by Pauline Phelps and Marion Short, is one in which Miss Anna Sullivan has an opportunity to display her talent as an actress.

She has made her mark as a versatile artist, but it is as an emotional actress who is at her best. This is the main verdict of her many staunch friends and admirers, won by hard effort and painstaking work in past seasons.

Mrs. Long is carrying a larger company this season than she has ever done before, including several vaudeville artists, and each member has been carefully selected.

Frank E. Long has determined to set a new pace in the repertoire field, and his efforts have been appreciated by the amusement-lovers wherever he shows.

HOLME'S The Store for YOU

Care of Umbrella.
Do not open an umbrella to dry it, nor let it stand on its ferrule. The proper method is destructive to the useful article, the former because the ribs will be warped by being bent by the silk, so that the next time it is opened it will be impossible in a short time; and the second because the water resting about the top will rot the covering. Stand the umbrella, closed, but not rolled, with the handle downward, then when the silk is perfectly dry, rub it with a cloth to restore the gloss.

To Enlarge Peanut Crop

Peanuts give an average yield of 34 bushels to the acre, but it is believed by government experts that the output can be increased to 50 or even 60 bushels by selecting superior seed from season to season. There are records of yields of 140 bushels of small podded peanuts to the acre with two tons of forage, which later alone will pay the cost of production.

Stop That Cough in a Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by perspiration from bloodroot, lobelia, pine bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Got a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Pfendler, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River streets.

Cavanagh,

The Great Conservation Novel

Forest

Ranger

By HAMLIN GARLAND

Copyright, 1910, by Hamlin Garland

INTRODUCTION.

My Dear Mr. Garland—You have been kind enough to let me see the proofs of "Cavanagh, Forest Ranger." I have read it with mingled feelings—with keen appreciation of your sympathetic understanding of the problems which confronted the forest service before the western people understood it and with deep regret that I am no longer officially associated with its work, although I am as deeply interested and almost as closely in touch as ever.

Western frontier people faced life with a manly dependence on their own courage and capacity which did them and still does them high honor. Some of them were naturally slow to see the advantages of the new order. But now that they have seen it there is nowhere more intelligent, convinced and effective support of the conservation policies than in the west. The establishment of the new order in some places was not child's play. But there is a strain of fairness among the western people which you can always count on in such a fight as the forest service has made and won.

The service contains the best body of young men I know and many splendid veterans. It is nine-tenths made up of western men. It has met the west on its own ground, and it has won the contest—an episode of which you have so well described—because the west believes in what it stands for.

I have lived much among the western mountain men, differed with some of them and worked with many of them. Sometimes I have lost, and sometimes I have won, but every time the fight was worth while. I have come out of it all with a respect and liking for the west which will last as long as I do. Very sincerely yours,

GILFORD PINCHOT.

CHAPTER I.

THE DESERT CHARIOT.

LEE VIRGINIA WETHERFORD began her return journey into the mountain west with exultation. From the moment she opened her car window that August morning in Nebraska the plain called to her, sustained her illusions. It was all quite as big, as lawless, as she remembered it, fit arena for the epic deeds in which her father had been a leader bold and free.

Her memories of Hoar Fork and its people were childish and romantic. She recalled vividly the stagecoach which used to amble sedately, not to say wheezily, from the railway to the Fork and from the Fork back to the railway in the days ten years before when she had ridden away in it a fearful, despairing, long limbed girl and fully expected to find it waiting for her at Sulphur City, with old Tom Quantan still as its driver.

The first hint of "the new west" came to her by way of the pretentious Hotel Alma, which stood opposite the station at Sulphur and to which she was led by a colored porter of most elaborate and kindly manners.

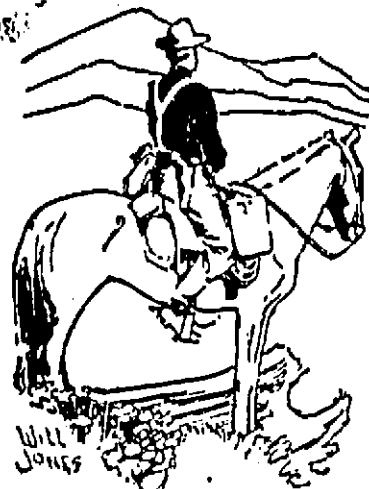

This house, which furnished an excellent dinner and an absorbing mixture of types both American and European, was vaguely disturbing to her. It was plainly not the old time west—the west her father had dominated in the days "before the invasion." It was indeed distinctly built for the tourist trade and was filled with all that might indicate the comfortable nearness of big game and good fishing.

Upon inquiry as to the stage she was amazed to hear that an automobile now made the journey to the Fork in five hours and that it left immediately after the midday meal.

At 2 o'clock, as the car came to the door, she entered it with a sense of having stepped from one faring chariot of progress to another, so big and shining and up to date was its glittering body, gleaming with brass and glowing with brave red paint.

As they whirled madly down the valley the girl was astonished at the transformation in the hot, dry land. Wire fences ran here and there, inclosing fields of alfalfa and wheat where once only the sagebrush and the greasewood grew. Painted farm-houses shone on the banks of the creeks and irrigating ditches flashed across the road with an air of business and decision.

For the first half hour it seemed as if the dominion of the cattleman had ended, but as the swift car drew away from the valley of the Hoar and climbed the divide toward the north the free range was disclosed, with few changes save in the cattle, which were all of the harmless or harmless variety, appearing tame and spiritless in comparison with the old time half wild blooded breeds.

Lee began to wonder if she should find the Fork much changed—her mother was a bad correspondent.

Her unspoken question, opportunely asked by another, was answered by an old woman passenger. "Oh, Lord, yes! Summer tourists are crawling all over us since this Otto line began. 'Tears like all the bare armed boobies and cross-legged little rips in Omaha and Denver had just got to ride in and look us over. Two of them new hotels in Sulphur don't do a thing but feed these tenderloins. I suppose prohibition will be the next grand stand play on the part of our town lot boomers. We old cowpunchers don't care whether the town grows or not, but these liver bankers and truck farmers are all for raising the price of land and taxing us quiet fellows out of our boots."

The girl was brought back to the vital phases of her life by the harsh voice of one of the men. "Liza Wetherford is going to get jumped one of these days for selling whisky without a license. I've told her so too. Every body knows she's a doin' it, and what beats me is her goin' along in that way when a little time and money would set her straight with the law."

The shock of all this lay in the fact that Liza Wetherford was the mother to whom Lee Virginia was returning after ten years of life in the east, and the significance of the man's words froze her blood for an instant.

"The grub ain't so bad; it's the way she stacks it up," remarked another. "But, then, these little fly-bite cow towns are all alike and all bad, so far as hotels are concerned."

Lee Virginia, crimson and burning hot, was in agony lest they should go further in their criticism. She knew that her mother kept a boarding house, and, while she was not proud of it, there was nothing disgraceful in it. Happily, the conversation turned aside and fell upon the government's forest policy, and Sam Gregg, a squat, wide mouthed, harsh voiced individual, cursed the action of Ross Cavanagh, the ranger in the district above the Fork. "He thinks he's secretary of war, but I reckon he won't after I interview him. He can't shuffle his sheep around over the hills at his own sweet will."

The young fellow on the back seat quietly interposed. "You want to be sure you've got the cluck on Cavanagh good and square, Sam, or he'll be a-ridin' you."

"He certainly is an arbitrary cuss," said the old woman. "They say he was one of Teddy's rough riders in the war. He sure can ride and handle a gun. 'Tears like he thinks he's runnin' the whole range," she continued, after a pause. "Can't nobody so much

Tantalizing. "Printed a kiss on her lips, you say?"

"Yes; but he was never able to get out a second edition."

as about a grouse since he come in, and the supervisor upholds him in it."

Lee Virginia wondered about all this supervision, for it was new to her.

Gregg, the sheepman, went on: "As I tell Redfield, I don't object to the forest policy—it's a good thing for me; I get my sheep pastured cheaper than I could do any other way, but it makes me hot to have grazing lines run on me and my herders jacked up every time they get over the line. How run one bunch off the reservation last Friday, I'm going to find out about that. He'll learn he can't get 'arbitrary' with me."

The old woman chuckled. "Tears like you've changed your tune since '88, Sam."

He admitted his conversion shamelessly. "I'm for whatever will pay best. Just now, with a high tariff, sheep are the boys. So long as I can get on the reserve at 7 cents a head—lamb's free—I'm going to put every dollar I've got into sheep."

"You're going to get thrown off altogether one of these days," said the young man on the back seat.

Thereupon a violent discussion arose over the question of the right of a sheepman to claim first grass for his flocks, and Gregg boasted that he cared nothing for "the dead line." "They've tried to run me out of Deer Creek, but I'm there to stay. I have 10,000 more on the way, and the man that tries to stop me will find trouble."

The car was descending into the valley of the Hoar Fork now, and wire fences and alfalfa fields on either side gave further evidence of the change in the land's dominion. Down past the courthouse, refurbished and deeper sunk in trees, Lee Virginia rode, recalling the wild night when 300 armed and revengeful cowboys surrounded it, holding three cattle barons and their hired invaders against all comers, resolved to run me out of Deer Creek, but I'm there to stay. I have 10,000 more on the way, and the man that tries to stop me will find trouble."

The car crossed the Hoar Fork and drew up before two small shacks, one of which bore a faded sign, "The Wetherford House," and the other in fresher paint, "The Wetherford Cafe." On the sidewalk a group of Indians were sitting, and a half dozen slouching white men stood waiting at the door.

As Lee went past the hotel porch her heart beat hard and her breath shortened. In a flash she divined the truth. She understood why her mother had discouraged her coming home. It was not merely on account of the money. It was because she knew that her business was wrong.

What a squallid little den it was! How cheap, bald and petty the whole town seemed of a sudden! Lee Virginia halted and turned. There was only one thing to be done, and that was to make herself known. She retraced her steps, pulled open the broken screen door and entered the cafe. It was a low, dingy dining room filled with the odor of ham and bad coffee. At the tables ten or fifteen men, a motley throng, were busily feeding their voracious jaws, and on her left, behind a showcase filled with cigars, stood her mother, looking old, unkempt and worried. The changes in her were so great that the girl stood in shocked alarm. At last she raised her veil. "Mother," she said, "don't you know me?"

A look of surprise went over the older woman's flabby face—a glow which brought back something of her other self, as she cried, "Why, Lee Virginia, where did you come from?" The boarders stopped chewing and stared in absorbed interest, while Virginia kissed her blowsy mother.

"By the Lord, it's little Virginia!" said one old fellow. "It's her daughter."

Robber Catarrh

Steals Energy and Will Power From Its Victims.

Catarrh robs its victim of energy—some physicians say of will power. That may be the reason why thousands of catarrh sufferers haven't ambition enough to accept this fair and square offer by The People's Drug Co. which they make without any why and wherefore or red tape of any kind.

The People's Drug Co. say, "We guarantee HYOMEL to cure catarrh, acute or chronic, or money back," and that offer is open to every reader of the Gazette.

HYOMEL (pronounced High-omel) is the purest Australian Eucalyptus combined with Thymol and other germ killing antiseptics.

Pour a few drops into the small vent pocket HYOMEL inhaler and breathe it into the lungs over the inflamed membrane infested with catarrh germs.

It is pleasant to use—it kills the germs, soothes the sore membrane, and cures catarrh; if it doesn't return your money back.

A bottle of HYOMEL costs 50 cents at The People's Drug Co. and drug-gists everywhere. A complete outfit, which includes a bottle of HYOMEL, a hard rubber inhaler and simple instructions for use costs $1.00.

Jehoshaphat's Good Reign in Judah.

2 Chron. xviii:1-13.

Golden Text—Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Matt. vi:33.

(1.) Verses 1-4—What advantage was it to Jehoshaphat in being the son of a good father and the successor of a good king?

(2.) Does a good predecessor, in any position lessen or increase the responsibilities of his successor? Why?

(3.) What did Jehoshaphat do to protect his kingdom and how did it show wisdom?

(4.) What should we do to protect ourselves from our spiritual enemies?

(5.) What king or kings reigned in Israel while Jehoshaphat reigned in Judah?

(6.) Why was God so good to Jehoshaphat?

(7.) If a man is true, all round, to God, does that alone guarantee his success?

(8.) Verses 5-6—Which gives us the greater influence, and why, great ability or thorough goodness? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(9.) What are the qualities in us which tend most to make people love and be kind to us?

(10.) Is it possible for everybody to have his heart "lifted up in the ways of the Lord," and what are its advantages?

(11.) Will love and loyalty to God guarantee us against the seduction of riches and every other temptation, also against every other real loss?

(12.) Verses 7-8—What is the chief guarantee of the permanent success of this country?

(13.) What are the three public institutions upon which we most depend for our true prosperity?

(14.) What analogy is there between the methods of Jehoshaphat and that of our public schools, and adult Bible classes?

(15.) Verse 9—In view of the moral grandeur of the Bible what can you say for, or against, the State making its teaching compulsory in the public schools?

(16.) Why ought not all adults, whether professed Christians or not, attend and take part in some adult Bible class?

(17.) Verses 10-11—Taking the world as it is, which is the stronger influence a great nation like this can exert among the nations, and against invasion, a powerful navy or loving righteousness?

(18.) What had been the general relationship between the nations here mentioned, and the former kings of Judah, and what had wrought the great change for the better?

(19.) Verses 12-13—What would have been the difference, in the success of Jehoshaphat, if he had possessed the same ability but was not a God fearing man?

(20.) What is the chief element of greatness in a nation?

(21.) Why should an individual, like a nation, lay up store for the future?

(22.) What is the influence of true Christianity upon business enterprises?

(23.) May "mighty men of war" become equally distinguished in the arts of peace?

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

Reckall "33" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Reckall "33" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our endorsement to Reckall "33" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our store—The Reckall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

"I am all right now; thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy."

The same relief is ready for you. Are you sure you do not need it? If Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy helped Charles Holmes, why won't it help you?

"I was troubled with heart disease, and after reading about Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I got a bottle. Before I got the Heart Remedy I had to sit up most of the night, and felt very bad at my stomach. Whatever I would eat made me feel worse, and my heart beat very fast. But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, I am all right now. I eat good, sleep good, and feel like a new man, although I am almost 68 years old. I have been a soldier in the late war of the rebellion, and was badly wounded." CHARLES HOLMES, Private Co. This Handsome Rogers Orange Spoon FREE

In order to get you to try "Sunkist" Oranges and thus learn their excellent quality, we will send you free the beautiful Rogers Orange Spoon here pictured on receipt of 12 "Sunkist" wrappers and 12c to cover charges, packing, etc.

You will find both "Sunkist" Oranges and Lemons at nearly every dealer's, packed in individual paper wrappers that bear one of the trade marks shown below. If they are not packed thus, they are not the "Sunkist" kind, but an inferior fruit.

"Sunkist" Oranges—Choicest Fruit

"Sunkist" Oranges are California's choicest fruit—the select inspected crop of 5,000 orange groves. No other orange is so sweet, rich and juicy. They are tree-ripened, firm and solid. All are hand-picked. No fallen, bruised or over-ripe oranges. Each "Sunkist" is a perfect specimen, as delicious as if plucked fresh from the tree.

Buy "Sunkist" Lemons, which are of the same high quality as "Sunkist" Oranges. Lemons are so juicy that two of them go farther than three of any other kind, in the preparation of desserts, sauces and temperance drinks. Tell your dealer you want "Sunkist" Oranges and Lemons.

Save the Wrappers and secure a complete set of beautiful, useful orange spoons. In returning, please send one-cent stamps when the amount is less than 25c on amounts above 25c. We prefer money order, express order or bank draft. Don't send Cash. We will be glad to send you complete list of valuable premiums. We honor both "Sunkist" and "Red Ball" wrappers on premiums. Address: CALIFORNIA FRUIT GROWERS' EXCHANGE, Chicago, Ill.

A Merchant In Evansville

Who recently used the advertising columns of The Gazette, says:

"We have had Excellent Results from our Advertising in your paper."

The circulation of The Gazette in and around Evansville is equivalent to three-fourths of the total number of homes in that territory.

The circulation of The Gazette is equally large in most all portions of Rock County (except Beloit and vicinity)—not quite so large in the adjoining portions of the neighboring counties, and LARGER in and around Janesville.

The Gazette's paid circulation is Double that of ALL other Janesville papers combined.

The Gazette makes known its circulation every day, and makes affidavit to the truthfulness of its circulation figures.

At 15c per inch (which is the 1000-inch contract rate) it costs an advertiser less than 3c per inch for each one thousand papers distributed.

PIMPLES CURED in Ten Days, or your money back

Any one who has pimples, boils, blackheads, liver spots, open sores and eruptions should know it is because of bad blood. The circulation has become contaminated with matter that has diseased the blood, which is being forced out of the system through the pores of the skin. This condition cannot be cured unless you remove the cause. The "Ter Complexion Tablets" purify the blood, strengthen the system and make your skin healthy, thus restoring your complexion to its clear, youthful appearance. If you don't cure you will return your money.

Under the purifying and tonic effect of the "Ter Complexion Tablets" the system will be built up and your skin cleared, usually in about ten days. Sold and recommended by Baker & Son, Druggists. Send 2c to the "Ter Laboratory, 155 N. Washington St., Chicago, for large sample.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Friday, Jan. 27, 1871.—Jottings.—A gentleman informs us that he noticed a robin flying among the trees in front of his house a few days ago. Either the bird has made a seasonal error, or we are to have an unusually early spring.

Today has been mild-mannered and gentle with flimsy fragments floating betwixt the earth and sky which cause forebodings of more snow.—The thermometer indicates about 26 degrees above zero.

If the resident of the Third ward who is short of wood will apply to the superintendent of the poor instead of helping himself from his neighbor's stock after dark his wants will be fully supplied at the expense of Rock county.
